

There are almost no green bars in the middle section except for the first and last columns, that the optimal value is found regardless of the value of the parameters in the middle section.

But according to the observation for several other parameters, there should be a decreasing trend.

and I think this is because the effect of a million iterations is so great

300

200

100

0

Fitness value

num_individuals

Type

